

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

IMPEACHMENT: The recent articles of impeachment of President Trump has 218 co-sponsors and Senator Chuck Schumer (D-NY) signaled that he wants a Senate trial to begin as soon as possible. A Senate conviction would bar Trump from running for president again, which is likely the main goal of supportive Democrats.

MILITANT: The Revolutionary Abolitionist Movement has formed an overt militant wing to provide security at disruptions, build “wider uprisings,” conduct “militant patrols,” and surveil law enforcement. The creation of overt, militant guards and patrols is a significant development for the Far Left proto-insurgency. The presence of armed Leftist groups will likely continue to grow this year.

INCITEMENT: Far Left chat room participants called for inciting violence at future political events in order to cause “settler on settler violence” between Trump supporters and the state. Far Left abolitionist groups may attempt to instigate conflict between enraged Trump supporters and the government they perceive as illegitimate. The desired outcome is a potential overreaction by the government, a subsequent civil war, and an opportunity to exploit these conditions by establishing autonomy and insurgent forces.

RECRUITMENT: White nationalist chat room participants expanded online recruiting efforts, targeting conservatives and Trump supporters who are either leaving and being banned from mainstream social media platforms. Some are convinced that recent events surrounding Parler will radicalize disillusioned white conservatives, who may become more open to joining white nationalist groups.

MILLION MILITIA MARCH

JANUARY 20, 2021 WASHINGTON, D.C.

ANALYST COMMENT: President Trump approved a declaration of a state of emergency in Washington, D.C. and ordered federal agencies to assist in the security of the 59th Presidential Inauguration. The FBI recently sent out a bulletin to law enforcement agencies warning of armed political protests in D.C. and at state capitols across the country in the lead up to inauguration on 20 January.. The “Million Militia March” is unlikely to materialize in the size or numbers being claimed. It may not even happen at all. I’ve noticed numerous prominent Trump supporters disavow future protests, especially at the inauguration, which could lead to much lower turnout for any event, regardless of location. Protest activity is still likely, however, and there may be elements on the Right and Left who attempt to cause disruption or violence.
